

Are You Prepared for Storm Surge/Flood Loss?

Flooding is a natural disaster that can affect you no matter where you live. Florida residents, especially those living by the coast, are at a higher risk for flooding from storm surges related to tropical storms and hurricanes. Inland flooding caused by heavy rainfall, high winds and storm surges during tropical storms and hurricanes is equally devastating.

Your Citizens policy, like other homeowners insurance policies, does not cover storm surge or flood loss. Legislation has made it mandatory for most Citizens policyholders with wind coverage to maintain a flood policy. Only flood insurance covers the cost of flood damage and loss.

Flood insurance is available through private carriers and the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), which can be purchased through your insurance agent. You may also contact the NFIP directly by visiting www.floodsmart.gov for an agent referral to assist you with flood insurance.
